Title IX Training

Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 prohibits discrimination based on sex in education programs and activities that receive federal financial assistance. All federal agencies that provide grants of assistance are required to enforce Title IX. The U.S. Department of Education gives grants of financial assistance to schools and colleges and to certain other entities, including vocational rehabilitation programs.

Examples of the types of discrimination that are covered under Title IX include sex- or gender-based harassment or bullying; the failure to provide equal opportunity in athletics; discrimination in a school's courses and programs; and discrimination based on pregnancy or parenting status. To review a comprehensive list of the Title IX issues addressed by the US Department of Education's Office of Civil Rights, please review information located here. The Title IX regulation is enforced by the Office of Civil Rights and is in the Code of Federal Regulations at 34 CFR Part 106.

To understand your rights and responsibilities under Title IX, please complete the following steps:

2. Review the Non-Discrimination, Anti-Harassment, and Anti-Bullying Policy below.

California Virtual Academies, Insight Schools of California, and IQ Academy at Los Angeles do not discriminate on the basis of any protected class including, but not limited to race, color, national origin, sex, age, religion, or disability in the programs or activities which it operates or the employment therein or admission thereto. Our schools comply with applicable non-discrimination, anti-harassment and anti-bullying laws including, but not limited to Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 ("Title IX"), 20 U.S.C. §1681 et seq., which prohibits discrimination on the basis of sex, which can include sexual harassment or sexual violence, such as rape, sexual assault, sexual battery, and sexual coercion. School policy specifically prohibits discrimination, harassment, intimidation, and bullying based on the following actual or perceived characteristics: disability, gender, gender identity, gender expression, nationality, race or ethnicity, religion, and sexual orientation. Discrimination, harassment, intimidation or bullying directed at someone associated with a person or group with one or more of the listed actual or perceived characteristics is also prohibited. CAVA, Insight CA, and IQLA prohibit discrimination, harassment and bullying in the school environment, whether or not it initially occurred off school grounds or outside the school's education programs or activities. The school environment includes school facilities, class connect sessions, and school-sponsored activities (such as extracurricular events or field trips).

CAVA, Insight CA, and IQLA are committed to providing a safe environment in which students can learn. As such, our schools strive to maintain a nondiscriminatory environment protecting students from discrimination, harassment, and bullying. We encourage students, parents, and staff to work together to prevent acts of harassment of any kind, including bullying. If any school personnel witness an act of discrimination, harassment, intimidation, or bullying, he or she shall take immediate steps to intervene when safe to do so.

Complaints or questions regarding discrimination, harassment or bullying should be directed to the Title IX Coordinator:
