

Insight Washington COVID-19 Continuous Learning Plan

Quick facts for students and learning coaches

What is the continuous learning plan?

When face to face school activities were closed in March, the Washington Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction (OSPI) released guidance on how districts across the state should continue instruction, provide online access, and help keep students on track for the coming school year.

This guidance included a rule that districts should locally approve plans for continued instruction, attendance, and grading policies. This is the continuous learning plan. Insight Washington's full district-approved plan is found here and on our website.

What does it mean for ISWA students?

Because Insight Washington operates fully online, no instruction or school access was interrupted due to the school closure orders back in March. All students had continued access to staff, curriculum, and live instruction with no changes.

However, we understand that the pandemic "Stay Home, Stay Healthy" orders impacted all of our students and their families in some way, including changes to employment, daily routines, health, and family obligations. Because of this, ISWA commits to following the state's guidelines to 'do no harm' to students in the Spring of 2020. Our continuous learning plan continues our existing flexible options and adds some extra flexibility around final grades.

Summary of temporary changes:

No failing grades

- For Trimester 3 and credit recovery sessions, the grading scale will exclude the 'F' mark. Students can receive an A, B, C, D, or I for 'incomplete'. In some few cases, students will see CR for credit or NC for no credit.

Extra time and opportunities to pass courses during June of 2020

- Students who have an incomplete grade as of the last day of school (June 16th) will have six extra calendar days to make up work and attempt a passing grade. The final day to turn in assignments for those students is Monday, June 22, 2020 at 12:00 Noon.
- ISWA teachers will continue to provide help sessions and outreach during the extra weekdays, through June 22, 2020.

No failing grades registered on the high school transcript

- Final grades will post to transcripts on June 26, 2020. Students who do not complete enough work by the June 22 deadline will receive a "I" or incomplete on the transcript.

Continuous opportunities to make up credit

- Students can participate in free summer course opportunities as well as credit recovery options in the fall of 2020 to make up credit and get back on track.

ISWA staff and teachers will provide ongoing communication to students about how to make up work to pass courses. As always, students can reach out to any of their teachers for assignment help or more information on how to pass each course.
