K12 District Virtual Instruction Programs

Admission and enrollment policies and procedures for district virtual instruction programs vary district by district depending on the district’s enrollment process. For instance, K12 provides support in admitting and enrolling students in some districts and may include the full responsibility for the admission and enrollment process up to final approval of enrollment, and still other districts do not involve K12 in the admission and enrollment process prior to the final approval issuance. Another difference among district virtual instruction programs is that districts vary in their document requirements.
